

The first two images show the page and the field. As you can see – the field is set up to have a placeholder, but doesn't show. These are both Editor Text Area fields.

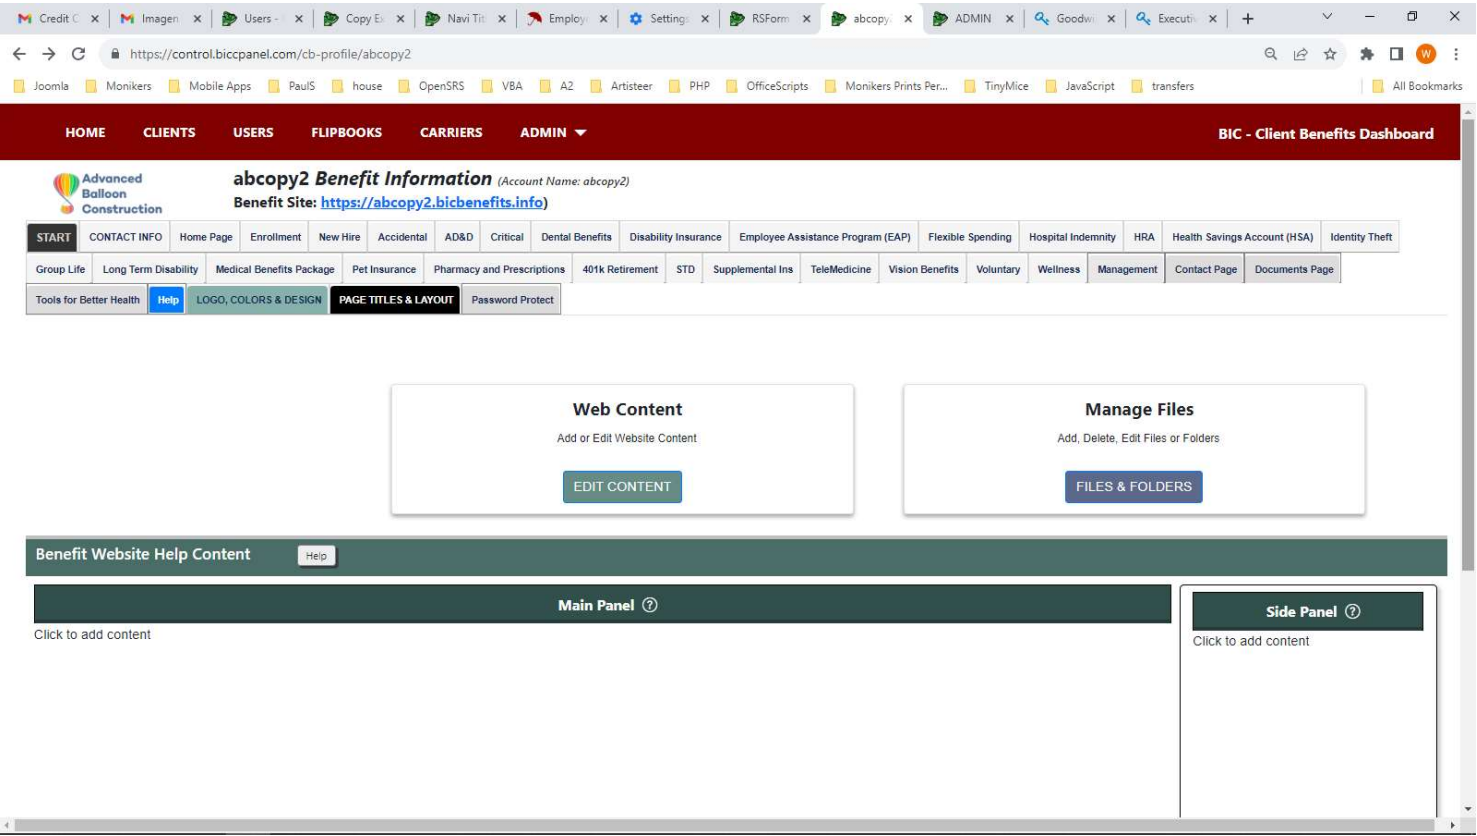

The conditions and are identical and query and code aren't used. They have the same css, etc. and no parameters set. The tabs are set up the same also.

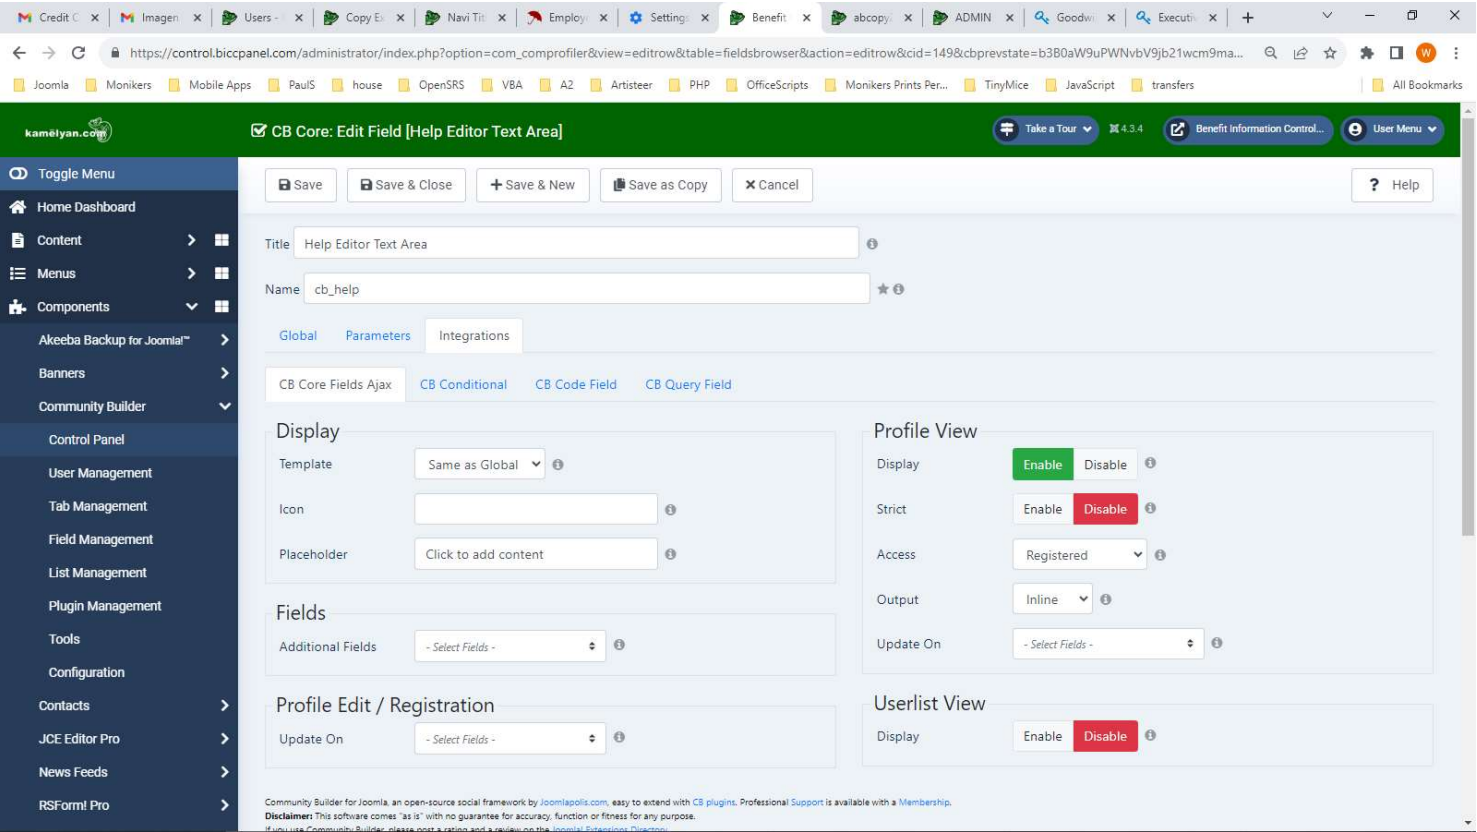

Field for Main Panel for this page

The two images below are identical fields, except for the names and they do show the Placeholder.

Field for Main Panel for this page

I don't get it!